

<https://www.linkedin.com/jobs/search/?currentJobId=4107688341>

Senior Project Manager (d/m/f)

Job description: Responsible for all aspects of the program to ensure success – identifying critical path, critical risks Establish project plans in collaboration with the technical project leader and the Director of engineering, check for logistic constraints, resources, lead-time, etc. Conduct project monitoring and co-ordination of activities between the different groups (e.g. design, application, product management, operations, assembly, ...) Drive project execution according to Engineering process, track and report projects according to quality standards and deviations to the plan Understand barriers, challenges, and trade-offs in all functional areas (chip design, test development, application, SW, firmware, Product and Test Engineering, quality, sourcing, customer engineering, marketing, etc.) in order to maintain a coherent plan for delivering to schedule, product cost and revenue Establish strong vendor/customer relationship – communicate status to customers regularly

Profile description: Academic master's degree in electronic engineering or similar Minimum 10 years project management experience in sensor or semiconductor industry Strategic thinker with a practical approach and excellent problem solving skills MS Office including advanced MS Project skills essential Ability to co-ordinate multi-site teams; strong inter-personal skills Proactive and motivated Strategic thinker with a practical approach Strong communication skills with good written and verbal English

We offer: 30 days vacation entitlement Attractive salary Flexible working hours Flexible home office arrangements to promote a healthy work-life balance ams OSRAM is an Equal Employment Opportunity Employer. Diversity, equity and inclusion is strongly established in our corporate culture and we firmly believe it makes us more successful as a company. All qualified applications will receive consideration for employment regardless of ethnic, national or social origin, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, color, religion, age, physical and mental abilities.

Stefanie Kleierl STEFANIE.KLEIERL@AMS-OSRAM.COM +49 941 850 1391